

Abstract

The invention provides double-stranded circular DNA molecules having one or more genes of interest, but lacking an origin of replication and a selectable marker, and methods for making such molecules.

1993-10-10